ROAD MAKING EXPERIMENTS

A Unique Departure In the Material of Road Building

TESTS BEING MADE

Experimental Roads to be Constructed With By-Prohucts of Blast Furnaces and Sugar Refineries

CANDY ROADS WOULD BE A NOVELTY

Uniquely interesting are a number of the experiments now being conducted by the office of public roads of the United States department of agriculture; one being the effort to build a dust-proof road by combining the heretofore little used blast furnace slag with asphalt or tar.

This endevor is of the utmost economic importance, because if the hoped success is attained unsightedly mountains of slag will soon disappear from the vicinity of scores of cities and a ready market will have been established for vast quantities of this material.

For several years the scientists in the office of public roads, as well as in many of the more progressive states, have been working to achieve two great objects, viz. the utilization of by-products in road building and the developement of dustless roads. Experiments already conducted indidate that crushed rock combined with tar or asphalt preparations bid fair to solve in a measure the dustless road problem. Exhaustive laboratory tests have indicated that slag in combination with preparations of tar or asphalt may be made to serve as a substitute for crushed rock. Sections of experimental road are now being constructed which will subject the materials to actual service tests. If the results are as satisfactory as the preliminary conditions indicate the slag-asphalt or slag-tar roads will realize the hope of the scientists for both the utilization of by-products and the attainment of adjustless road.

One of these experimental stretches of road is now in course of construction at Chicago, under the supervision of Chief Engineer Vernon M. Peirce of the federal bureau, and one at Birmingham, Ala., under the direction of Mr. B. F. Heidel, first assistant engineer.

The road at Chicago will be of slag and asphalt; that at Birmingham of slag and tar. The greatest skill and care will be used in putting down these short stretches and they will then be carefully observed during the trying months of winter. If in the spring it has been established that this class of road remains firm, does not rut, sheds water and makes but little dust, a vast step forward will have been taken in road building and a never-failing market will have been created for blast furnace slag.

Besides this activity in slag experiments the public roads office is also busy at Newton, Mass., with a special asphalt preparation, never before tried, which the director and his lieutenants hope may prove efficacious as a dust binding surface material,

More unique than this, however, the office is preparing a stretch of that facetious writers are almost certain to label a "Candy Road." In all flights of fancy it is probable that no body except a scientist would go so far afield in research as to adopt molasses as a road building material. But that is exactly what has been done here, and Assistant Chemist Prevost Hubbard, of Director Page's scientific corps, is levelling a half mile stretch of road near Newton, and in a few days will be in active supervision of the laying of the first molasses road of history. This molasses is the almost useless by-product of the great cane sugar refineries of the south and the beet sugar refineries of the west and southwest. It is sickishly sweet, nearly as black and as thick as tar and almost as powerful as a binder. Having always been a waste product, it can be bought at a lower price than coal tar and in greater quantities.

When the quantity and the sticky consistency of this material was called to the attention of Director Page a number of months ago, he conceived the idea that it might aid in solving the always difficult problem of dusty roads. He sent for a supply for laboratory experiments and detailed Mr. Hubbard to conduct them. The molasses was blended with oils and limewater; was mixed with rock dust, with earth and with sand and tried out under heat and under water. It behaved so well and held out such promises for ideal roads that the practical test of real road was recently decided upon.

Slag as the useless by-product of the blast furnaces and "molasses," as the useless by-product of the sugar refineries, may in a few years revolutionize country road building; create a demand for more extended roads in the states where the products are easily to be had, and add millions to the wealth of the country by putting a cash value on hitherto waste material.

MACCABEES ANNIVERSARY.

Held a Great Meeting Wednesday Evening and Observe Silver Anniversary.

Bellefonte Tent Knights of the Maccabees held a rousing celebration Wednesday night in their pretty lodge rooms on the third floor of the McClain block, it being the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the order in the United States and was also at the same time the second anniversary of the founding of the Tent in this place. It was fitting that a proper double observance was held and it certainly was no mistake.

The Tent was opened in due form by Commander Mitchell and the regular business of the session transacted until under the head of the good of the order many had something to say in talks on the order our growth and progress, told stories and made addresses for a couple of hours, the principal talkers being Sir Knights Rumberger, Edmund Blanchard Commander Mitchell, Deputy G. Commander Bush, Past Commander Laird Curtin, James Peese and others. Our candidates W. Harrison Walker for Congress and Earl Tuten for Register were unavoidably absent but Bill Brown the genial candidate for Recorder lent his smiling countenance to the occasion, but he could not make a speech, he said, if he had to die for it.

About ten o'clock the fee committee got busy and said they were ready and the Dutch lunch was spread out on tables in the ante room and the way those fellows jumped the first line of grub you might have thought they were country school teachers at a chicken and waffle supper and it very quickly disappeared.

After the lunch has been demolished the party returned to the rooms where Rummy proved himself an expert in the manly art of self defense and with singing, story telling and friendly bouts a couple more hours were wiled away.

Nearly seventy of the members were present and all thoroughly enjoyed the occasion and went away making vows to have many of them and to gather the many unregenerate now out into the fold and a lively winter is expected. The treasury is in pretty good shape and the fact that so many of the members were helped this past winter from the sick and accident fund when sick showed the financial strength of the organization the National treasury having eight million of reserve more than any other fraternal organization in the United States.

Passed Away.

F. Peebles Greene, one of Bellefonte's aged and respected citizens and a veteran of the civil war, died at his home on Water street Sunday morning at 7:40 o'clock of bronchial catarrh, after an illness of three weeks.

The deceased who was a son of Joshua and Mary Greene, was born in Barree township, Huntindgon county, February 3, 1834, and was aged 74 years, 7 months and 17 days. When a young man he learned the trade of a carpenter which he followed for many years. In 1857 he was married to Miss Levinia E. Burris at Iowa City, Iowa, and in 1870 came to Bellefonte where he since made his home. For some years he was employed at his trade here, but later was employed as watchman at the Centre County bank. He was a member of the Bellefonte Methodist church and a man who was trusted and respected by all. During the Civil war he enlisted in his country's cause and served in Company D, 205th Regiment P. V.

Surviving him are one daughter, Ida Mary, at home, and two sons, Edgar B., of Altoona, and Elmer C., of Erie. Two brothers, Benson M., of Baltimore, Md., and Miles R., residing on the old homestead in Barree township, Huntingdon county, and one sister Mrs. John Miller Stewart of Barree township, also survive.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, at which time services were conducted in the Methodist church by Rev. James B. Stein. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

VICTIM OF HIS OWN PLOT

Tyrone Polander Lost His Life by Exploding Dynamite.

PROPERTY DESTROYED

Revengeful Foreigner Attempted to Blow Up Shanty of Fellow Workmen Near Tyrone.

ACT FOLLOWED DRUNKEN DEBAUCH

As a result of a drunken debauch at the California quarries, owned by the Pittsburg Lime Stone company at Tyrone one man is dead, one dying and hundreds of dollars worth of property destroyed. What caused all the trouble was a christening of a little innocent baby at which almost the entire camp of foreigners attended. Many kegs of beer had been drunk during the day which resulted in a glorious old drunk. Dancing and horid singing was kept up until a late hour when Andy Martin who had secured enough liquor to put him in a fighting mood, began quarreling and as John Neslerock became to close to his stiletto he received five ugly stabs in the back and head, the most serious being an ugly gash across his spine which will no doubt prove serious. When last seen at the quarry, which was about six thirty o'clock Monday morning, the fellow was in a dying condition.

The night rolled on and toward morning the Sabbath breakers went to their bunks except Martin who had determined to wipe the settlement out of existence. About three o'clock he went to the building where the company kept their explosives, and as he had access to the place, he secured a box of dynamite or at least eighty sticks, placing it in front of the shanty which he thought contained his most bitter enemies. The explosives were attached to a long wire which was fastened to an electric battery and as the fellow thoroughly understood the operating of the machine it was not long until all was over. It is thought by some of the other employes that the dead man must have had an extra supply of the explosives in his pockets as his body was literally torn to pieces and thrown over the road, the small bits of flesh being eaten by the chickens. The camp was in an uproar and after much effort the other foreigners were persuaded to get bags and sheets to cover what remained of the unfortunate foreigner.

Obituary.

Charles H. Hoffman was born at Bridgeport, N. J., June 1, 1868, and died September 12, 1908, aged 40 years, 3 months and 11 days. Eleven days previous to his demise he contracted typhoid fever and later pleuro-pneumonia developed, causing his death at 7.18 o'clock on Saturday morning.

For the past 18 years he has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and at the time of his death was chief accountant and engineer of the maintenance of way department, with offices in Philadelphia. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and of the Free and Accepted Masons. On June 16, 1897 he was married at Jacksonville, this county, to Miss Bertha Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, who now reside at Howard. For the past 11 years they have resided at Ridley Park, a suburb of Philadelphia.

Surviving him are his wife, his mother, Mrs. M. M. Hoffman, of Ridley Park, and two small children, Richard and Sheldon, aged 6 and 3 years respectively. Three sisters and two brothers living in the vicinity of Philadelphia, also survive.

The deceased was one of the well known residents of Ridley Park and his untimely death is mourned by a host of his associates and friends. He was also well and favorably known here having been a frequent visitor to Centre county.

Funeral services were held at Ridley Park on Tuesday evening and the remains were brought to Howard Wednesday morning and taken to Jacksonville where services were conducted in the Presbyterian church by Rev. S. Linton, of Ridley Park. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church. A delegation of the Masonic order from Ridley Park and Bellefonte attended the last sad rites of their deceased brother.

ACADEMY 6—STATE 5

Bellefonte Preps Won a Sensational Game from the State Varsity Eleven

The greatest athletic triumph in the history of the Academy was won in a most unexpected manner on Saturday when the Academy football warriors lined up against the State Varsity eleven on Beaver Field and succeeded in defeating them by the close core of 6—5. The Academy team has been honored for several years by State in being scheduled to give them a practice game at the beginning of the season so that the coaches might be enabled in a measure to size up the abilities of the numerous new candidates "trying out" for the Varsity eleven. 22—0 and 11—0 were the scores by which the varsity men administered defeat to the plucky prep school lads. Saturday Sept. 19, 1908 will be fixed on the calendar of the Academy as the date when State seriously underestimated their opponent's strength and they yielded the greatest honors in athletic life that could be gained by a "prep" school eleven. If we are not mistaken this is the first defeat State ever suffered in foot ball on their own grounds. It was expected that the Academy boys would lose their heads over their glorious victory and hold a big bonfire celebration in the evening, but we are glad to say that the same cool headedness and wisdom and self control which won the game for them was displayed upon their return to Bellefonte as they decided to defer the celebration as long as everything was so dry and not risk a conflagration in the town as the result of their bonfire.

The morning train to the college carried a hundred students, and friends to the scene of the conflict. After dinner an immense crowd awaited in front of the main building the expected rush between the Freshmen and Sophomore classes. This was wisely prevented and then the vast throng of 1500 people repaired to Beaver field to witness the game.

From the very start it was apparent that the Academy was unusually strong and the new players of State, quite anxious and uncertain, for the Academy players not only stopped the State plays but succeeded in rushing their line, best of all, held State's line in every instance but one, while Elsey would get off his punts unblocked. The first half ended 5—0 in favor of State to the great surprise of everybody. During the intermission both teams were given valuable advice. The State men decided to put in Smith, Syphers and McCreery to clinch the game, while the Academy encouraged by their good showing in the first half resolved to put up the game of their lives in the second half and not allow but one more score against them. As the second half started, the interest and excitement was intense. The ball advanced alternately towards either goal until the last three minutes of play when Dillon of the Academy secured the ball on the boond and wriggled his way through players and down the field for a touchdown after a beautiful 40 yard run. Elsey very cleverly kicked the goal. McCreery was sent in at this time to save the game, but was too late, for within a couple of minutes the whistle blew with the ball in State's possession about 50 yards from the Academy's goal.

Every player on the Academy eleven deserves unstinted praise for his plucky and clever work, but the stars were undoubtedly Dillon, Smith, Elsey, Wright, Wyckoff, Wagner, Sleppy and Louden.

The line up:—

State College	Positions.	Bellefonte Acad.
Strom (Lyon, Watson)	left tackle	South
Wyckoff (Gray)	centre	(Wagner) Boyd
Dusling (Hall)	right guard	H. Succop (Louden)
Riddle	right tackle	Wyckoff (Wilson)
Dillon (Messner)	right end	Elsey
Ballou (Herman	quarter	(Wright) Davis
Barr	left half	(Oberlin Shields
Barrett (Capt)	right half	Dillon
Barrington	full	(Capt.) Smith

Touchdowns, Harrington, Dillon. Goal from touchdown, Elsey, Referee, Dunn, Umpire, Barr. Time of halves, 15 minutes.

Football on Saturday.

The first football game of the season in Bellefonte will be played on Saturday, September 26 at 2.15 sharp and not on Friday the 25 as heretofore announced.

The Punxsutawney high school team, which is one of the best school teams in state, will battle with the Academy eleven which is already known to be composed of championship stuff. A battle, close, interesting and exciting, is guaranteed. Pantali, the great football kicker, will play for the visitors. Go and encourage the home team. They need your presence and your money. You'll get your money's worth. Admission 25 cents.

THE WORK OF DESPERADOES

Two Blair County Towns Were Visited by Robbers Tuesday.

DYNAMITED THE SAFE

Roaring Spring Drug Store and an Ore Hill Office were the Places Visited at an Early Morning Hour.

SECURED A SMALL SUM OF MONEY

The towns of Roaring Spring and Ore Hill, both in Blair county, were visited by a gang of desperadoes at an early hour Tuesday morning, and the drug store of Edward Hare at the former place was entered and robbed and the safe in the office of Peter S. Duncan at Ore Hill dynamited and blown open. A comparatively small amount of money was secured by the burglers.

Mr. Duncan is one of Hollidaysburg's prominent citizens, and is interested in shipping ore from Ore Hill and has a general store at the latter place in which is his office. About three o'clock in the morning while the night watchman was making his rounds and had gone to the engine house he heard a report in the direction of the office and when he started to investigate found himself confronted by a revolver and was compelled to remain where he was until the second charge had been set off. The explosion blew open the safe and knocked out all the doors and windows. The burglars secured $22 in change, but overlooked $200.

This was probably the same gang who broke into the drug store at Roaring Spring earlier in the night. The robbers were evidently in search of money and nothing else was taken but a few cigars and some tobacco. The till was broken open and $14 in money taken. The robbery was not discovered until morning.

C. and C. League.

Saturday's games in C. and C. league resulted in a victory for Orvis over Howard by the score of 14—4, and for Snow Shoe over Mill Hall by the score of 9—0. Young, the southpaw twirler, was in the box for Orvis and the Howard players were at his mercy, and 15 of them struck out. Orvis had 12 hits to Howard's 5. Roberts and Shay pitched for Howard.

Mill Hall was not able to handle the Barons in any way on the Mill Hall field. Disbler did the pitching for Mill Hall and gave Show Shoe 8 hits, while White, the Snow Shoe pitcher, gave Mil Hall but one hit. The latter also had 7 errors to assist in their defeat.

Saturday, September 26.

Howard at Beech Creek.

Snow Shoe at Orvis.

The winning of the pennant probably hinges on the game at Orvis on Saturday with Snow Shoe. Howard losing to Orvis last Saturday put the Millionaires a little too low to reach the top again.

Mrs. John E. Furst.

Mrs. John E. Furst died at her home near Mackeyville, Saturday morning at one o'clock, aged 46 years.

Mrs. Furst, whose maiden name was Barner, was born in the township where she died and lived there all her life. She was a member of the Lutheran church and her fidelity was exemplified by her daily conduct. In the community where she lived she was well known and much respected. She is survived by her husband and seven children, three boys and four girls.

The funeral was held Monday at one o'clock, Rev. J. M. Rearick officiating. Burial was made at Cedar hill.

Cold Winter Predicted.

Unmistakable signs lead local weather prophets to predict a severe winter, says an exchange. An old weather-wise farmer remarked today that the weeds have grown unusually high, which he said indicates a long severe winter. He said nature causes the weeds to grow tall so that birds can feed upon the seeds when the ground is covered with snow. Another indication, he continued, was the fact that squirrels are carrying their winter supply of grain into hollow trees. When they deposit them in less secure places a mild winter may be expected.

HIGH CLASS ATTRACTION.

Every Day Will be a big Day at the Coming Centre Co. Fair.

Not since there has been a fair has there been such high class talent engaged for the performance before the grand stand as will be seen on the Great Centre County Fair grounds on Oct. 7th, 8th, and 9th.

De Velde and Zelda, the European vaudeville team, have no equals in artistic equilibrism. Their performance is posivively unique and extraordinary and as they come here direct from the great Canadian exposition at Montreal they are a team of much higher class than is usually seen at fairs.

Mlle Marchand in her startling performance on the flying rings is another star of the first magnitude and her performance is calculated to more than please.

"Robin," known to be a head-liner in all the big vaudeville houses, will be here to do his clever specialty as a comedy juggler. His act is immensely popular because of the fact that while he does all his tricks as deftly as the best prestidigitators, yet he bungles it just enough to allow the wondering audience to see how it is done.

Prof. Cassele, the aeronaut at Electric Park, Baltimore, will make a balloon ascension and parachute drop each day. He is reported the highest flyer in the business and makes an ascension by being carried into the air performing while hanging by his teeth.

The famous Repasz band of Williamsport and our own pride, the Coleville band, will both be there so that all that could be desired in the music line will be on the ground.

These are some of the amusements that the management offers to you free charge though they will cost nearly $1000.00. They do not include the many small shows, carousals, exhibitions and racing that will go to make up the great fair.

The question now is will you be there? And remember, every day will be a big day. Thursday won't be a bit better than Wednesday or Friday. In fact Friday will be the best day of the Fair. If you take our advice that is the day you will go not miss.

Howard Gets Some Pointers

As scheduled the Williamsport Tri-state team and the Howard Millionaires met on the diamond at the Meadow Brook park Thursday afternoon. The Millionaires went into the game with fear and trembling and as was anticipated came out defeated. To assist them in this game they had secured a pitcher by the name of Yeiser, but the first inning showed that he was too slow for the Tri-state batters. The pennant winners are sluggers at the bat and their infield balls were too hot for Howard while the outfield flies were too scattered. The Millionaires were not in as good shape as when they played Snow Shoe and after several innings were played the Tri-staters took matters easy. The game, however, was a good practice game for the Millionaires and they doubtless received good pointers as to team work and fielding. Of course it was not expected that Howard could win but the discouragement caused by the pitcher failing to make good resulted in lack of interest in the playing. Townsend did the pitching for Williamsport and the Millionaires were able to hit him but the fast fielding of the Williamsporters prevented them from accomplishing much. The game ended 17 6.

Fought Forest Fires.

Constable Isaac Bower with John Harris and his force of men had a hard fight the other day with forest fires at the Harris camp near Black Moshannon. Samuel Wynn, of Philipsburg, while operating his drilling machine was surrounded by fire and had to burn a patch around him to save his own life and the destruction of the machine.

Mrs. Stanton, living nearby, and fearing the destruction of her property, carried her household goods and placed them in the middle of the creek. By hard work on the part of the men the saw mill and the lumber stacked in the yard were saved.

A Proposed Fish Law.

The commission in charge of the drafting of a propsed fish law for the State Sportsmen's association have completed an outline of a bill which will permit appeals and allow larger catches of game fish, as well as clarifying the laws as it now stands. It is probable that the new bill will be considered by several fishermen's organizations before the legislature meets and recommended.

DROUTH GROWS MORE SERIOUS

Many Portions of the State are Literally Drying Up.

FOREST FIRES RAGING

Reports from Various Places Show that Effects are Most Appaling. Many Towns Suffer for Water.

INDUSTRIES COMPELLED TO CLOSE

Reports of drought are hourly becoming more serious. In many towns and cities the water supply is so short that there is hardly enough for ordinary purposes, and fires are breaking out on every hand with no means on hand to quell the flames.

Never in the history of the State has the Susquehanna River been so low.

In Schuylkill county the lack of water may affect the running of the trolley cars; in Blair fish are dying by thousands by the drying up of smaller streams; in Westmoreland a diphtheria outbreak is attributed to the lack of water with which to flush the sewers and crops and even nuts are shriveling up all over the State.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Sept. 18.—This section of Pennsylvania is suffering from the severest drought in twenty years. No rain has fallen for ten weeks, and swamps, streams and springs that have never been known to fail are dried up. Many of the larger streams have become mere rivulets. The trout and other fish have perished by thousands by the failure of the streams.

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 18.—The heavy pall of smoke, completely obscuring the sun, still overhangs all this section. Reports from Laquin say that the large force of fighters has succeeded by back-firing in saving the 10,000,000 feet of logs of the Central Pennsylvania Lumber Company. The same timber, however, is still in danger from fires appearing in another directions, and the men are now turning their attention to that fire.

The mountains all along the west branch of the Susquehanna are hidden by smoke and at night the red glare can be seen for miles.

Wilkesbarre, Sept. 18.—Measurements today show that the Susquehanna River is now 6 inches lower than it has ever been before. The reservoirs of the water companies are rapidly being depleted, and are getting no fresh supply, as most of the streams on the mountains are dried up. The hill sections of the city are supplyed with water only 12 hours a day, while on the outskirts much suffering and inconvenience are caused by wells and springs doing dry.

Bad Time for Flies.

Although what is known as the summer season may be officially at an end, that dangerous, little pest of a house fly is still with us and will be for some days, and now is the time when he is more aggravating than ever as he sticketh closer than a brother when the weather begins to get colder.

Investigation of the suspected causes for typhoid fever in this part of the state fails to reveal that milk or water has been to any extent responsible for the spread of the disease. But the fly, which is known to be the most active distributor of germs, does not free himself from the charges of responsibility. It is believed by many close observers that the fly is responsible for many cases of typhoid fever.

From this time until the frost comes and puts the fly to rout, it will be well for all persons to take precautions against this dangerous insect. By the use of window and door screens and by constant vigilance it is not so difficult a matter to keep the house free of flies. A very important thing is to keep the flies if possible from coming in contact with the food as there is not the least doubt that much food is contaminated by them and thus the cause of many cases of fever.

A Peculiar Case.

The pure food department won a signal victory in the Cambria county court by the conviction of George B. Nowag, of the Cambria Butter company of Johnstown, who was charged with selling oleo in violation of the law.

The case will undoubtedly be appealed to the superior court. The jury found the defendant guilty of selling yellow butterine, and the manufacturers of oleo want to make a test case. They claim that there is inconsistency somewhere, when a state license permits a dealer to sell oleo in its natural color and prosecution is entered against him for selling the goods which he is licensed to sell, even though the natural color be yellow

Under the law dealers must pay a license of 10 cents a pound on colored butter and one-fourth of a cent on uncolored butter.

What He Enjoyed.

Mr. Makinbrakes was trying to say something complimentary to the distinguished actor to whom he had just been introduced.

"What I particularly enjoy about your acting, Mr. Strutters," he said, "is your perfect naturalness. You can take an old man's part, you know, without the slightest necessity for making up—that is, I mean you don't have to change your—your voice, you know, or—why, take it in that play I saw you in the other night, when you appeared as an old man. All you had to do was to be just your natural—er—self, though, of course, there were plenty of wigs and wrinkles you could have put on if you had—er—needed them—which isn't quite what I was trying to get at either—for anybody could see how admirably you fitted the—the part, you know, without any—and all that sort of—what do you think of this new theory, Mr. Strutters, that a man can live on peanuts?"—Chicago Tribune.

Reciprocity.

Men are enlisted for the labor that kills—the labor of war. They are counted, trained, fed, dressed and praised for that. Let them be enlisted also for the labor that feeds. Let them be counted, trained, fed, dressed, praised for that. Teach the plow exercise as carefully as you do the sword exercise and let the officers of troops of life be held as much gentlemen as the officers of troops of death, and all is done. But neither this nor any other right thing can be accomplished—you can't even see your way to it—unless, first of all, both servant and master are resolved that, come what will of it, they will do each other justice. People are perpetually squabbling about what will be best to do, or easiest to do, or adviseablest to do, or profitablest to do, but they never, so far as I hear them talk, ever ask what it is just to do. And it is the law of heaven that you shall not be able to judge what is wise or easy unless you are first resolved to judge what is just and to do it.—John Ruskin.

Driven From Home.

"Did you hear that the daughter of that rich man in the next street had been driven from home?"

"No! When did it happen?"

"Just after she got into the carriage."

No Wonder.

Jack—Yes, poor John may have had his faults, but his heart was on the right side."

Wagge—Is it possible? No wonder he died.

Seeing Ourselves.

"The man who can pick out the best picture of himself is a rare bird," said a photographer. "Even an author, who is reputedly a poor judge of his own work, exercises vast wisdom in selecting his best book compared with the person who tries to choose his best photograph. Every famous man or woman who has been photographed repeatedly has his favorite picture. Usually it is the worst in the collection. It shows him with an unnatural expression sitting or standing in an unnatural attitude.

"The inability to judge of his best picture must be due to the average man's ignorance as to how he really looks, or perhaps it can be partly attributed to a desire to look other than he does. A stout man will swear that the photograph most nearly like him is one that makes him look thin, a thin man the one that makes him look stout. The solemn man selects the jolliest picture, the jovial man the most cadaverous.

On Again, Off Again.

A young New York artist who is almost as noted for his convivial tendencies as he is for his genius was recently asked by a friend:

"What does your wife think of these spells? I should think she would not submit to them."

"When I have a spree," confessed the intemperate one frankly, "she is just as good to me as any one possibly could be. She takes care of me and nurses me back to decency with a kindness that is superhuman—it is angelic and beyond belief.

"But once I am sober again she begins to nag me to promise her and swear to her that I never, never, never again will drink a drop, and she keeps at me so determinedly and so persistently that—by Jove—she makes me so desperate that I have to go and fill up again so I can forget it."

Her Name.

One needs patience to succeed as a teacher of the young, as this brief dialogue in one of our elementary schools may show:

Scholar—I've left home now, ma'am. I'm living with my auntie.

Teacher—What's her name?

"She's called after me—Fanny."

"Yes, but what's her other name?"

"She has no other."

"But what does the woman next door call her?"

"She doesn't speak to the woman next door."

A Hard Job.

"Didn't you say six months ago that if Miss Tipkins wouldn't marry you you would throw yourself into the deepest part of the sea? Now, Miss Tipkins married some one else three months ago and yet you haven't"—

"Oh, it's easy to talk, but let me tell you it is not such an easy matter to find the deepest part of the sea."

Substitutes.

Doctor—Have you given him the champagne and oysters, as I ordered? Patient's Wife—Well, no, sir, I couldn't afford that, so I got him some ginger beer and whelks instead. Do it matter, sir?—London Telegraph.

ENTHUSIASM FOR SHERMAN

Received a grea. Ovation at Wilkes-Barre Mass Meeting.

MINE WORKERS ATTEND

Vice Presidential Nominee was the Central Figure in One of the Greatest Meetings ever Held There

MONSTER PARADE IN THE AFTERNOON

Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 16.—Thousands of Republicans from all over the State welcomed James S. Sherman, the Republican vice-presidental candidate, and other Republican notables who tonight addressed a big mass meeting here.

Delegates were present from several hundred gathered to attend the twenty-second annual session of the State League Republicans Clubs, while train loads of Republicans from all over this section of the State poured into the city and crowded the big hall where the mass meeting was held.

A feature particularly noted by the local leaders and called to the attention of the visitors was the large number of mine workers and other laboring men who not only gathered at the station to see Mr. Sherman and the other visitors upon their arrival, but shook hands with them afterward whenever occasion offered, joined in the big parade and listened attentively to the speeches made at the mass meeting.

It was the greatest outpouring of Republicans that this city has ever seen and no larger mass meeting was ever held here.

The big celebration began after the dinner, when the largest parade ever held here in any polital campaign was a fitting opening to the State campaign. Through streets lighted by colored fires and crowded with people the candidates were taken, receiving a continuous ovation along the way while behind them marched thousands of Republicans.

Some 500 representatives of Republican clubs from Philadelphia were in line and were greeted enthusiactically along the way. Over 700 came here from Scranton, Wilkes Barre turned out about 3000 and every town within comfortable reach of this city was represented by delegations, making a total which impressed the onlookers with the great wave of Republican enthusiasm prevalent here.

Substitute for Rubber.

After years of experiment and research, D. J. Shaffer, of Milton, who has charge of the large stationary engine in the Thompson manufacturing plant east of Sunbury, has found a substitute for rubber, which he claims will prove to be a wonderful boom to the manufacturing world.

Shaffer claims that the compound which he will soon be able to manufacture, will not only take the place of rubber but that it can be put on the market at one-third the cost, which will greatly reduce the selling price of the manufactured article.

The possessor of the secret has made a number of tests and although he has not yet reached the state of perfection he has achieved results sufficient to warrant the belief that the remaining part of the problem amounts to nothing and will be readily overcome. He will not disclose his discovery, he states, until he has secured protection in the patent office at Washington, when he will make an effort to reap the fruit of his labors by putting it on the market.

After Stock Food Men.

The several acts acts of assembly covering the pure food questions apply to feed for animals as well as products for human consumption, and for some time past G. G. Hutchison, of Warriorsmark, Blair county, a special agent for the agricultural department of the state, has been making investigations with a special view to ascertaining whether or not firms dealing in stock feed are complying with the law in the matter of manufacturing and properly labeling feed compounds, previously unknown, has grown to large proportions and the incentive to adulterate them has developed in proportion.

Mr. Hutchison got busy some time ago collection samples and after having them analyzed by the chemists in the employ of the state, Wednesday went before Alderman John J. Irwin, of Altoona, and made complaint against the following firms or persons: S. O. Adler. Alfred and Albert Alder, of Altoona; John Hagey and Rose Hagey, of Martinsburg; E. V. Mendenhall, of Altoona; John B. Isett, of Spruce Creek; William Fuoss, of Tyrone, and Robert Wilson of Tyrone.

The Other Great Man.

Dr. Russell Cool of California happened to suppress an epidemic of measles while on a vacation trip to Tahiti, and Chief Oreaori gratefully invited him to a banquet in his primitive palace. The south sea potentate and his white guest sat amiably on the floor and dined off roast pig and other native delicacies served on broad leaves and eaten with the fingers. After dinner host and guest adjourned to seats outside the palace, lit long, fat, black cigars and gazed out over the moonlit Pacific. In the eyes of Chief Oreaori, Robert Louis Stevenson, who did so much to improve the condition of the south sea islanders, was the greatest white man that ever lived. The chief related to Dr. Cool many incidents to illustrate Stevenson's kindliness, then asked a score of questions about the health of Stevenson's widow and of his stepchildren. When the last question had been answered there followed a long period of silence. The two friends puffed slowly at their cigars and luxuriously regarded the radiant tropic moonlight glowing upon rustling palm fronds and the silvery ocean. Then Oreaori turned to the doctor and demanded, "Now tell me about John L. Sullivan!"—Harper's Weekly.

Freezing Flesh.

It is a curious fact that, although dwellers in northern climes must have known for ages that a low temperature preserves flesh from putrefaction, it never seems to have struck any one that this natural fact could be turned to artificial advantage until Lord Bacon stuffed the historic chicken with snow and thereby caught a chill which killed him. It is perhaps even more curious that an experiment resulting in the death of one of the most eminent men in the world should not have called any attention to an already well known principle which might have been readily turned to great advantage. As a matter of fact, it was not until the year 1875, 249 years after Lord Bacon's fatal experiment, that freezing was practically employed as a method of preserving flesh. This was the commencement of the frozen meat trade between America and England. Four years later a dry air refrigerator was perfected.

Thought He Had Died.

A prominent member of a German-American society told a story about a German friend of his who was taken ill. For many days the German was close to death, but after a time he showed improvement in condition. The doctor told the German's wife that her husband might have anything to eat that he liked.

The German expressed a desire for limburger cheese, and the wife, being a generous woman and pleased at the improvement and in order that her husband might have a nibble at any time he had a taste for it, put some cheese in every room in the house. It is easy to imagine the aroma.

The next morning the doctor called at the house, and as soon as he opened the door he asked:

"When did he die?"—Hartford Post.

How It Works Out.

"I never tell funny stories in my speeches," remarked Senator Sorghum.

"The audience always enjoys them."

"Yes. A man hears you tell a funny story, and he thinks it is so good he tries to remember it. He regards you as a first rate fellow and feels thankful to you for giving him a new one. Then he tells it to the first friend he meets, and as he isn't a good story teller the friend doesn't laugh. Then he tries it on the blase hotel clerk and the stolid drug store man and several others, and by the time he gets home he concludes you have passed him a gold brick. He not only refuses to vote for you, but tells all his friends he doesn't think it's dignified to keep in office a man who tells funny stories."—Washington Star.

The Horse's Power of Smell.

The horse will leave musty hay untouched in his bin, however hungry. He will not drink of water objectionable to his questioning sniff or from a bucket which some odor makes offensive, however thirsty. His intelligent nostril will widen, quiver and query over the daintiest bit offered by the fairest of hands, with coaxings that would make a mortal shut his eyes and swallow a nauseous mouthful at a gulp. A mare is never satisfied by either sight or whinny that her colt is really her own until she has a certain nasal certificate to the fact. A blind horse, now living, will not allow the approach of any stranger without showing signs of anger not safely to be disregarded. The distinction is evidently made by his sense of smell and at a considerable distance. Blind horses, as a rule, will gallop wildly about a pasture without striking the surrounding fence. The sense of smell informs them of its proximity.—Horse and Stable.

Some Famous Sallies.

Great men have been guilty of punning, and some of the most famous of these sallies have come down in history. There is something melancholy about the pun of Dr. Thomas Browne, who, having unsuccessfully courted a lady and being challenged to drink to her health, as had been his wont, replied, "I have toasted her many years, but I cannot make her Browne, so I will toast her no longer."

Sydney Smith's jest at the expense of Mrs. Grote had the salt of malice in it. She was famed for ill taste in dress, and as one day she swept by in an extraordinary headdress Smith pointed her out to a friend, saying, "That is the origin of the word 'grotesque.'"

Mrs. Grote, however, had her revenge. Sydney Smith's daughter married a Dr. Holland. When the latter was knighted some one mentioned his wife as Lady Holland. "Do you mean Lord Holland's wife?" asked the listener.

"No," replied Mrs. Grote. "This new Holland, whose capital is Sydney."

When the barrister Campbell married Miss Scarlett his friend explained his absence from court by telling the judge that Campbell was suffering from a bad attack of Scarlett fever.

Ancient Chains.

"Some authorities," says an English writer, "give the Britons credit for originating the cable chain because Julius Caesar is recorded as having been unable to cut the cables of the Gaul's vessels, 'as they were made of iron.' This may have been a chain in the present acceptation of the term, but it is doubtful, because the first patent for chainmaking was obtained in England in 1634 by a blacksmith named Philip White. The patent was for fourteen years, and in consideration of it White had to pay £5 in lawful money yearly 'at the exchequer Westminster, att the Feast of the Blessed Virgyn and Saint Michell the Archangell by even and equal process.'

"His patent is described as follows: 'A way for the wearing of shipps with iron chaynes by finding out the true heating (pre)pareing and tempering of Iyron for that (pur)pose and that he hath nowe attayned to the true vse of the said chaynes and that the same wilbe for the great saveing of cordage and safety of shippers and will redound to good of our Comon Wealth.'"

Naturalized.

An Italian went to the civil service commissioners' rooms to be examined for a laborer's position. He answered most of the questions correctly. Finally they asked him if he had ever been naturalized. He seemed a bit puzzled, but at last his face lighted up. "Ah, I know whata you mean. Scratcha de arm. Yes, lasta week."

North Carolina Poplars.

Councils at Altoona passed a resolut presented by Mr. Hammond, of Ninth ward, requesting citizens to continue the planting of North Caro poplar trees for shade purposes, and view of the serious damage that has b inflicted by the roots of these trees up sewers and the paving, the request ou to be generally heeded.

Dark Object Was His Father.

Attracted by some dark object t swung from the limb of a tree, disclo to view from beneath the surroundi boughs when the wind wafted them ba and forth, the son of Constable John Eckert, of Benzinger township, E county, while working in a field at t edge of a woods found that the object w the body of his father.

The elder Eckert had committed su cide by hanging. His family thoug the reason why he had not come hom the night before was that he had go to a neighbor's to help thresh. HEADACHE Versus HEARTACHE.

By GRAHAM BOYD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Nell noticed the girl as the car came to a stop. She was undeniably pretty, though her clothes were a little too pronounced in color and cut, and her hat was distinctly "loud." The white parasol, however, softened the high coloring of clothes and complexion and moved the man in the seat ahead to the audible reflection that she was a peach."

There was a trifling delay to the car ahead, and Nell was about to turn her attention to the trouble when Vance Joslin dropped lightly from the rear end of the car and approached the girl. For an instant she seemed to resent his address, but as he spoke her manner changed, and a moment later they moved off up the street together. The man in front remarked to his companion that "the Johnny had his nerve with him."

The vulgarity of the remark emphasized the shock Nell had felt when she had seen Vance speak, and with a crimson face she turned her head away from that side of the car that he might not see them as the car, now in motion again, overtook them.

She had not seen Vance board the car, and she was certain that he had not seen her, else he would have made his way to her side. They had been engaged just three days. Only that morning he had told her over the telephone how sorry he was that a business engagement prevented him from asking her to lunch, and yet he had apparently left the car to take this girl to lunch.

Nell had meant to stop off at the little restaurant where she had so often lunched with Vance. He would probably take his client there, and he would have a chance at least to speak to her. And when one is but newly engaged even a word and a look are worth the while. Now she decided that she did not want any lunch. She only wanted to get home and have a good cry.

But she was not permitted to enjoy this luxury, for at the transfer corner she ran into a party of her old school chums. The solitaire told its own story, and Nell was carried off to a fashionable restaurant, there to be the guest of honor at an impromptu banquet.

As she entered she gave a start, for, though Vance was sitting with his back toward her, she had no difficulty in recognizing him, and the girl was unmistakable. While she had been chatting with the girls he had probably passed them. His order had been given.

She led the way to a table at the other side of the room that she might not be compelled to recognize him, but the precaution apparently was needless. When the girls were leaving the place, Vance and his guest were still absorbed in each other. Vance was drinking coffee, and the girl was consuming highly colored cordials. Nell led the way from the place, thankful that none of the other girls knew Vance.

The luncheon had been an ordeal for her. She wished that she had slipped off the ring when the first impulse came to her to do so. Then she would have been saved the humiliation of accepting a celebration lunch at which she sat and planned the letter which she should write to accompany the ring. As it was, the lunch had broken her nerves completely, and, hurrying home, she wrote the fateful letter, then took to her bed. She was crying her heart out in comfortable feminine fashion when her mother opened the door.

"Vance is downstairs and wants to see you," she said gently. "I told him that you were ill, but he insisted on seeing you just a moment."

"I'll see him," said Nell, with sudden determination. "Tell him I will be right down."

She sprang from the bed and began to dress. While lying there she had thought of many things to say that were even more bitter than the things she had said in the letter, and in her present mood she wanted to hurt him as much as he had hurt her. She wanted to taunt him with his choice and to see him shrink from her description of the girl as seen through a woman's eyes. The anticipation gave her strength, and with head proudly erect and shoulders militantly braced back she entered the parlor.

Joslin came forward eagerly.

"It was good of you to see me," he cried. "I was afraid, from what your mother said, that you were too ill to receive any one."

"I had a headache," she explained listlessly, keeping the table between them that he might not kiss her. Probably he had kissed that other girl.

"It's too bad about the poor head," cried Vance. "I wanted you to come to dinner with me. We will go to the Trocadero and have just the best we can find, or we'll go to the Alhambra if you prefer that. The music is better there, but the cooking is not as good."

For a moment Nell could only stare dumbly. He wanted to take her to the Trocadero, where he had taken that woman for lunch. The thought was impossible. Probably his conscience smote him and he wanted to compromise with it.

"I don't think that I care to go to the Trocadero," she said, adding meaningly: "I was there this afternoon for lunch. I met some of the girls, and they insisted upon my going with them."

"Then we'll go to the Alhambra," he offered. "What time did you have lunch?"

"About 2 o'clock," answered Nell, watching his face closely for signs of confusion. Instead he merely gave a whistle of surprise.

"I was there about then," he declared in mild astonishment.

"I know you were," admitted Nell. "I saw you."

"I don't blame you for not speaking," he said, with a short laugh. "But why didn't you send the waiter for me? I would have come over to your table."

"It seemed a pity to disturb you," retorted Nell. "You two seemed so much interested in each other that I did not like to interrupt. You told me on the telephone that it was a business engagement."

"But that was not the engagement," explained Vance. "You see, I was to lunch with old Mr. Bingham to talk about that infringement case. I was on the car on my way to get him, and a blockade brought us to a halt. I got off to walk, as I was late, and Bingham's office was only a couple of blocks away, and I ran right straight into this girl."

"She didn't know me at first, but I told her who I was, and she accepted my invitation to go to lunch, so I slipped in and excused myself to Bingham and took her over to the Troc. I knew that she would appreciate the chance to show off all her finery in a place like that, and I guessed right. She was tickled to death."

"You seemed well pleased yourself," suggested Nell maliciously.

"Why not?" asked Vance. "That was Sadie Webster, the girl who could—and did—tell me all about that Mylius case. We'll win that now, and it means that we live in our own home instead of in a flat. That's why I want you to come out and celebrate."

"I'll get my hat in a minute," promised Nell. Then she paused as the remembrance of that letter she had written came back to her. "I'll go on one condition," she added.

"On any condition," promised Vance laughingly. "You have but to name it."

"You mustn't read a letter I sent you this afternoon," she stipulated, while her cheeks grew crimson. "You must throw it away unread."

"Jealous?" he asked curiously. "Was that the headache, Nell? Couldn't you trust me, dear?"

"I wasn't exactly jealous," sobbed Nell, seeking the refuge of his shoulder to hide her flushed face, "but I could see that she didn't know you, and a man in the seat in front said it was a flirtation, and—and I was so miserable."

Gently Vance raised the tear stained face to his own.

"It's a lesson that comes to every wife, dear," he said softly. "She has to learn that she must trust her husband, even though appearances are against him. I'm glad, sweetheart, that it was no worse. Now get the hat and we'll celebrate the meeting with Sadie if the poor head is well enough."

Nell threw her arms about his neck and kissed him.

"Vance," she said penitently, "you are just the best headache cure that ever was."

Decline and Fall of Wisdom.

He was very near the end, but when at last the information had been conveyed to him that an interviewer was below he rallied. I was led in on tiptoe by a muffled nurse.

"To what," he quavered, "do I owe my success in life? To this, young man—to never forgetting the proverbial philosophy of Loamshire, my native county."

I asked him if he could remember any of the more helpful of the sayings by which he had guided his long and eminent career. He rested for awhile and then repeated a few, truly the wisdom of many and the wit of one, and how racy of the soil:

"You must hold your hat in a high wind."

"Don't lean against wet paint."

"The deepest flagon is empty at last."

"Steady reaches the goal."

"Look twice at a penny and twelve times at sixpence."

"The sun will come out."

"Old birds are the toughest."

"You can't dive for pearls without getting wet."

"It is ill sitting on thorns."

He could remember no more and sank back exhausted, although still watching me as I wrote.

It was not till I closed my notebook that he died.—Punch.

Halevy and the Duc de Morny.

It may not be generally known in what circumstances Halevy owed his advancement in the French civil service to the Duc de Morny. The duke, an amateur of the arts, had begun to write the libretto of a comic opera of which Offenbach was to provide the music. He found that he had not the time—or perhaps that he had not the talent—to finish it. He sought a collaborator, and Halevy came to the rescue and kept his secret. When, therefore, the office of the ministry of Algeria, which he held, was suppressed he had no hesitation in asking his august patron for the post which he sought on the Journal Officiel. "The very thing!" exclaimed the duke. "There is six months' vacation when the chamber is not sitting, so that you will have plenty of time to write for the stage." And he gave him a note to the head of the department, consisting of the simple words, "Make arrangements to give the bearer the post for which he will ask you."—Westminster Gazette.

Nor a Hospital Either.

"Talking of our British cousins?" inquired the tax attorney of the Southern Pacific. "Well, I heard one the other day. Big fat Britisher shoved into one of those compartments at the last moment. There was an American in there reading his newspaper.

"'It's sixty miles to my station,' remarked the Englishman, 'and, I say, old chap, I'm treating myself for a wounded foot, and I say, if you don't mind, I'll put some of this iodoform on my ankle. Beastly smelling stuff!'

"'Go ahead,' said the American. But when he got the full odor of it he shoved up a window and pulled out a cigar and lighted it and began puffing away vigorously.

"'Here, here, my good fellow,' protested the Englishman, 'this is no smoking compartment!'"—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Queer Screw Plant.

There is nothing under the sun quite so quaint, so weird and witchlike as the pandanus prairies of Fiji. The pandanus, or screw plant, as it is called, is a most grotesque specimen of the vegetable kingdom even at the best and in the early stages of its growth. In its very young days it is of an extraordinarily screwlike shape and looks as though some unkind hand had taken hold of its long, swordlike leaves and twisted them round and round. Later on it straightens out a bit, and from it grow a number of tall wooden stilts. Its foliage is simple, a number of drooping, ragged tufts, for all the world like mops and very mournful looking. Among these mops hangs the fruit, in shape like a pineapple, made up of hard red and yellow kernels, woody and fibrous and quite uneatable from a European's point of view.

His Status.

The caste system is so deeply rooted among the people of India that Christianized Hindoos are still under its potent influence. For example, Mr. J. C. Oman, formerly professor of natural science in the government college at Lahore, tells in his book, "The Brahmans, Deists and Muslims of India," of the native Christian head master of a mission school who was asked in a court of justice what his religion was.

"Brahman-Christian," he replied.

The judge, who was a European, not recognizing such a sect, asked for more information.

"I am a Brahman-Christian," reiterated the head master. "I cannot call myself simply a Christian," he continued with some warmth, "when that Choorah (sweeper) there is also a Christian. I am a Brahman-Christian, sir."

Friday and Fortunes.

Two women who wished to make an appointment with a fortune teller who was pronounced "just splendid" by everybody who had patronized her were advised by the seer to come on Friday.

"That is, if you are not superstitious about Friday," she said. "Most people are. They regard Friday as such an unlucky day that they won't even have their fortune told them for fear they will hear something unlucky. That is why I advised you to come on that day. I will have plenty of time and won't have to put your cases through with such a rush."—St. Louis Republic.

An Equinox.

Tommy—Pa, what is an equinox? Pa—Why—er—it is—ahem! For goodness sake, Tommy, don't you know anything about mythology at all? An equinox was a fabled animal, half horse, half cow. Its name is derived from the words 'equine' and 'ox.' It does seem as if these public schools don't teach children anything nowadays!"

Bread That Intoxicates.

In far eastern Russia, in that region which lies between the sea and the river called Missuri, the humidity of the climate as well as of the soil is remarkable. Vegetation is here distinguished for its wondrous exuberance, to such an extent that the soil never dries up. The result is that the inhabitants in order to prevent putrefaction of the roots sow their corn upon a series of layers of the soil. Nevertheless in certain districts the humidity is so intense that there grows upon the ears of corn a kind of fungous matter made up of micro fungi. As a result of this sporadic excrescence the bread made from the corn in question gives all the results of an overdose of alcohol. In very humid climates the phenomenon is likewise known, though to nothing like the extent of eastern Siberia, where whole districts are affected by this strange kind of "alcoholized bread."

Caught the General.

One of the regular army officers tells a story of how the old stringent army regulations once went against General Scott. One wet afternoon that soldier was caught in the rain in Washington. He was in full uniform and was well known, so, no cab being near, he borrowed an umbrella. Arriving at his hotel, an underofficer approached him and calmly remarked:

"General, you will consider yourself under arrest for eight days for carrying an umbrella while in full uniform."

His Solicitude.

"Is it a fact that your mother-in-law threw herself out of the third story window and you did nothing to restrain her?"

"Excuse me, I went to the first story to catch her, but she had already passed."—Dia lo Rosa.

Complimentary to Him.

"Really," said Cholly Sappey, "I haven't understood Miss Rood at all. She actually called me a crank."

"The idea!" exclaimed Miss Cutting. "How flattering!"

"Flattering?"

"Yes; a crank, you know, is a man with one idea."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Delays Are Dangerous.

"This milk is sour, and I won't take it," declared the lady.

"That's your own fault, ma'am," retorted the dealer. "I offered it to you day before yesterday when it was fresh, and you wouldn't take it."—Cleveland Leader.

EDITORIAL.

A DENATURED DISAPPOINTMENT.

A year or so ago we heard a great deal about denatured alcohol and what great things would result to the farmers by reason of the removal of the internal revenue tax upon the article for commercial purposes. It was predicted that about every progressive farmer in the country would have his little alcohol distillery, into which he would turn his apple cores, his potato parings, his knotty beets and whatever other fruits and vegetables that had been going to waste, and from them derive a handsome revenue.

The report of the internal revenue department for the fiscal year which ended with June fails to show any increase in the denatured alcohol bussiness. The production for the year with the tax off, was only about 7,000,000 gallons, which was no increase over the year before. There had not been established on any farm a single small still for the making of the alcohol. The farmers were still, presumably, throwing away their apple cores and small potatoes. The total output of denatured alcohol was from the big distilleries, which were thus the sole beneficiaries of the removal of tax.

Freight Rates High Enough.

Fresh from his journey to the Pacific Coast, E. H. Harriman declares that what the country needs most to make it prosperous is higher freight rates. This looks like a simple solution of a difficult problem.

Perhaps the country does need higher freight rates and then again perhaps it does not. When the question recently came before a council of leading railroad presidents, several of the most important Eastern officials opposed any move to raise rates at this time. Owing to their firm stand freight charges remain where they had been before the business depression set in.

Shippers in the West who use Mr. Harriman's railroads and other lines simply point to two facts to answer the arguments for higher freight rates. One is the large dividends paid by the leading railroads in that section and the other is the quite recent increase in wages. Mr. Harriman and his Standard Oil friends control absolutely four great railroads of the West. Union Pacific pays a dividend of 10 per cent.; St. Paul, 7 per cent,; Illinois Central, 7 per cent, and Southern Pacific, 6 per cent. Mr. Hill's two big Pacific lines, Great Northern and Norther Pacific, both pay dividends of 7 per cent.

But Mr. Hill and Mr. Harriman are constantly contending that the shippers who make these big dividends possible should be forced to pay still higher tariffs. And they insist that the shipper be squeezed still further just at this time when he, like everyone else is suffering from a business depression.

If the Hill and Harriman railroads were bankrupt, if they paid no dividends and were not able to show very big net earnings on their capital stock, the public might endorse their views about freight rates. But since these railroads are flourishing mightily and have not found it necessary in a single instance to reduce wages or dividends the public naturally takes the position that a larger revenue is not necessary.

PERILS OF AERONAUTICS.

The peril of rapid and possibly over-confident ventures into new and unknown fields was shown Thursday when the triumph of aerial flight was turned into grim tragedy. The casualty to Orrville Wright's aeroplane due to a defective propeller resulting in the lamented death of Selfridge and severe injuries to Wright enforces the lesson that the knowledge of all the factors involved in flight by human invention must be carried far beyond its present stage before its practice can be free from the greatest hazzards.

The recent and apparently steady success of Zeppelin, the Wrights, Delagrange and others may have generated a false confidence that the secret was so far conquered that its dangers were overcome. But this fatal casualty, accompanied by less tragic mishaps in Europe reminds us that although the initial problem is solved the art is still so much in its infancy that a failure in the machinery or even a wrong turn of the rudders or planes may turn the delight of air-sailing into disaster.

With deep regret for the honorable and useful life cut short we recognize that the work will go on. Aeronauts have lost their lives for a century or more; and the final achievements indicate that the sacrifices may not have been wholly in vain. Since we are now on the threshold of practical results the attempt to fully master the subject must continue, though it may well be prosecuted with such caution as will minimize the perils while still maintaining the chief purpose.

CLUBMEN BLAZE WAY TO VICTORY

Pennsylvania League Lines Up For the Campaign.

ARE READY FOR BATTLE

Republicans Inaugurate An Aggressive Canvass to Insure the Election of Taft and Sherman and to Keep the Keystone State at the Head of the Party Column In November.

[Special Correspondence.]

Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 22.

Pennsylvania's Republican campaign was formally opened last week at the convention of the League of Republican clubs, and there is every assurance that the Keystone state will give a splendid account of herself at the election on Nov. 3 next.

The clubmen were particularly fortunate in having so many men of national prominence as their guests and to speak at their mass meeting.

Vice Presidential Nominee James S. Sherman was very happy in his references to the stalwartism of Pennsylvania Republicans, and he declared that their fellow Republicans of the Empire state would vie with them at the coming election in rolling up a big majority for the entire Republican ticket.

Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Senator Boies Penrose and John Hays Hammond were among others who addressed the great assemblage in the armory.

This meeting, the splendid attendance at the convention and the demonstration made by the mine workers and others in the parade which was given prior to the opening of the meeting, left no room to doubt the enthusiasm for Taft and Sherman among the Republicans of this state.

Aside from the cordial indorsement of the nominees and the platform of the Republican national convention, the club league placed upon record strong testimonials to United States Senators Penrose and Knox, and later on there was an exhibition of earnest and sincere approval of a suggestion from Colonel John R. Wiggins that the members of the league should go to work at once to insure the election of Republican members of the legislature who will in January next be called upon to elect a successor to Senator Penrose. Colonel Wiggins was applauded when he advocated the re-election of Senator Penrose.

Following the re-election of Robert B. Habgood, of McKean county, to the presidency of the league and the election of other officers, a platform was adopted, which among other things says:

A Patriotic Party.

"The Pennsylvania State League of Republican clubs in its twenty-second annual convention assembled, declares its unwavering faith in the policies of the Republican party under which the state of Pennsylvania, in common with its sister states, has grown and prospered. In the more than fifty years of its existence the Republican party in state and nation has ever been loyal to the patriotic institutions of the country, while it has advanced the material interests of all the people by wise and progressive legislation.

"In every great movement for the development of industry or the improvement of commerce, it has taken the lead and maintained the ascendency. It has been opposed and obstructed by the Democratic party, and its achievements have always been in spite of the assaults and obstructive tactics of the Democratic party. Only once in the past fifty years have the people voted for a change from Republican to Democratic rule. They were misled by the arguments of the supporters of Grover Cleveland into believing that tariff revision which would lead to ultimate free trade would be better for the common people than the Republican system of protection to American industry.

A Painful Experience.

"The experience was a wretched and painful one, as the records of the second Cleveland administration clearly demonstrate. From the Cleveland administration to the present time Republican presidents and Republican policies have been sustained. Under Republicanism thus restored to power, the country has experienced its greatest progress. It has seen the free silver heresy come and go. It has observed the cry of anti-imperialism and of government ownership of railroads. These theories were advanced as the entering wedge for the overthrow of Republican success, but they have been met and countered in each succeeding national election. We are now approaching an election where new theories are to be met.

Democratic Experiments.

"One of those is the proposition to impose upon the government of the United States the business of an insurance company for the protection of deposits in national banks to the prejudice of the larger deposits of the farmers and thrifty industrialists of the country who have placed their faith in state banks and savings funds. We are opposed to the introduction of this theory as an experiment in our national life, believing that it is not a government function to protect the money of the schemer and speculator, while the savings of the honest toiler are to be prejudiced and endangered.

"With this new theory advanced as another expedient by the candidate of the Democratic party, this convention has no other concern than to point out its fallacy and the danger that would follow its attempted introduction. We stamp this "new thought" of the versatile dreamer of Democracy as an insidious and dangerous bit of demagofuery, no more entitled to the respect of the people than was his proposition to sell fifty cents worth of silver bullion to the government of the United States for a good gold dollar.

Warning to Republicans.

"We warn Republicans upon the farm; in the factory; in the mine; and in business circles generally, against the experiments that are being proposed by our Democratic opponents; each and every one of them is simply intended to confuse the political situation and to undermine the foundations upon which the prosperity of the country has been reared, in order to discredit the Republican party and to place the Democrats in power. We believe as firmly today in the protective tariff of the Republican party as we ever did.

"We believe the time has come when the tariff law may be revised by its friends in order to regulate such inequalities as may have arisen or to correct such abuses as may have crept in, but we do not waive our devotion to the protective principle, nor do we yield in the slightest measure our demand that American industry shall be a safeguard against unfair foreign competition.

"We believe the tariff should be so adjusted, so maintained, that every imported article that comes into competition with domestic manufacture, shall be made to pay duty representing the difference in cost between the wages paid abroad and the wages paid at home, with a reasonable profit to the manufacturer. Our industries have grown and prospered under this system, and we claim for the Republican party the credit of having made it what it is.

The Two Senators.

"Our distinguished senators, the Hon. Boise Penrose and the Hon. Philander C. Knox, are to be congratulated upon the records they have made at Washington. The long service of Senator Penrose upon the important committee of postoffices and postroads, during which time he has seen the growth of the postal business of the country from eighty millions per annum to two hundred and twenty millions per annum, and during which he has contributed largely in the developing of the free rural delivery service of the country, is especially noteworthy.

"What shall we say of our junior senator? When the proposition to prosecute the illegal trusts of the country was brought before Mr. Cleveland's attorney general, Richard Olney, it was reasoned that the laws were too feeble to reach the powerful malefactor. Under Theodore Roosevelt, how different the situation! Mr. Knox, the attorney general and now the junior senator from Pennsylvania, declared the law sufficient to hold the rich malefactor equally with the poor and, still better, he demonstrated the truth of his opinion by bringing the illegal combinations to the bar of justice and overthrowing them. And this brings us to the final declaration of this convention."

The league convention was one of the most successful that has been held in recent years, and a telegram received from Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, warmly commending the work of the members of the Republican clubs in recent campaigns.

A Young Man and His Mother.

The following beautiful tribute to a mother's love is taken from the editorial columns of the Philadelphia Bulletin of Friday September 18th. It should be read and thought upon by every young man.

A young man, a graduate of one of our leading universities, put an end to his life last Tuesday in a Philadelphia lodging house. He had no money and was out of work. A letter found beside his body, addressed to his mother, begged her forgiveness and God's for a wasted life. The news dispatch laconically says, "His mother was informed of his death and is expected from New York tonight."

Instead of writing that letter to his mother and giving his wrecked life back to the mercy of God, that young man should have prayed to God and gone home to his mother. He may have had no money and no work—he had his mother. As long as he had her he had incalculable riches. He may have drifted, vagrant and derelict, down to the gates of hell; her mother love would follow after him and find him there. Filled with the husks that swine rejected, a tatterdemalion, returning from a far country—she would have welcomed—not the prodigal son, but her son, the son of her loving life and living love."

A son may forget that his mother loves him, but his mother does not forget. She will go as far as to the foot of the gallows tree with him, and after that will intercede with heaven. For she went to the very gate of death for him, when he came into the world—and when he comes to die, however shameful in the eyes of man may be his exit from the world, her soul goes with him as he goes, and speaks to God for him.

Capt. Schwickardi Writes

RUDOLPH B. SCHWICKARDI.

"I Have the Fullest Confidence in the Efficacy of Pe-ru-na."

A War Veteran's Tribute to Pe-ru-na.

Rudolph B. Schwickardi, Capt. 39th N. Y. Vol. Inf., writes from 1818 G St., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Having the fullest confidence in the efficacy of Peruna, both as a tonic and as a remedy for catarrhal trouble, I commend its use in the strongest possible terms. It should be in every household."

War Left Ailments.

Mr. William J. Lees, 3501 Morgan St., St. Louis, Mo., member Frank P. Blair Post No. 1, Grand Army of the Republic, and ex-Commander of the U. S. S. Benton Miss. Squadron, writes:

"The war left me with a complication of stomach, liver and kidney troubles, and I decided to take Peruna for my affliction. I began to use it about five years ago at the earnest solicitation of some friends. At that time I was only able to be up about half of the time, and my health was simply miserable. I consider a bottle off and on is a preventive.

"I certainly do endorse your remedy, and am glad to do so."

Helped From Chronic Catarrh.

Capt. Lemuel M. Hutchinson, Montpelier, Vt., writes:

"It gives me pleasure to write you this letter at this time on account of the good your Peruna has done me when I was quite done up with a very bad cold.

"I could hardly perform my ordinary duties, but from the use of Peruna I am almost restored to health. I am quite convinced that it has helped me from chronic catarrh, to which I am subject. It has also benefited my throat.

"I can truly recommend it as the best all-round medicine it has been my privilege to become acquainted with.

"Of this I am quite convinced from my own experience."

Mr. W. C. Rollins, Prairie View, Texas, Secretary of the State Normal and Industrial College of Texas, writes that for years he had chills and fever, and after taking Peruna his appetite returned, he became stronger, the fever left him, and he is now in excellent health and vigor.

Pe-ru-na Tablets.

Some people prefer to take tablets, rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Grange Fair Closes.

The attendance at the Grange Fair and encampment at Centre Hall was larger on Thursday than on any other day, which was the biggest day of the week. The railroad accommodations had to be greatly increased to carry the passengers to and from the park. The returning trains to Bellefonte Thursday brought large numbers of the picnickers here on their way home from the fair, and this morning many others returned.

In former years the Grange encampment has been greatly hindered by a superabundance of moisture but this year the dry weather was a great drawback. The continual moving about of the crowds present every day raised great clouds of dust which hung over the park like a ball and persons wearing dark clothes gave evidence of their having attended the picnic. The exhibits at the encampment were more numerous and better than ever this year. The Pennsylvania State College exhibit was much larger than in former years. The fair closed today with the disposition of the exhibits at public auction.

Salona Lady Dead.

Mrs. David Bechdol of East Nittany Valley died at the Lock Haven hospital Monday afternoon about four o'clock. Mrs. Bechdel had been ill for a long time but several weeks ago was admitted to the hospital where an operation was performed with the hope of prolonging her life. She is survived by her husband, two daughters and five sons.

Funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from her late home one mile east of Salona. Rev. J. M. Rearick conducted the services and interment was made at Cedar Hill.

Noll—Swartz.

A very pretty and quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Swartz in Milesburg Wednesday evening when George Homer Noll was united in marriage to Miss Hanna E. Swartz. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Ware of the Baptist church in the presence of a number invited guests. Following the wedding the young people received the congratulations of their many friends and an elaborate supper was served.

Both bride and groom are very popular young people and the bride is one of Milesburg's accomplished young ladies and is held in high esteem by all. The groom is a promising engineer on the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad. On Friday they will go to house keeping. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and successful married life.

Uncle Tom's Cabin was the leading attraction in town last Thursday. The show was not up to the standard of the many small troups that go about the country giving this famous play.

At a recent business meeting of the Keystone League Christian Endeavor the following officers were elected; President, Mrs. Eby; vice president, John Butler, secretary, Maude Thomas; treasurer, Anna Holter; organist, Jennie Kane chorister, James Kane.

A. C. Longee of Bellefonte visited over Sunday with his mother Mr. Thomas Longee.

The Howard base ball team is feeling none the worse for the game they played with the Williamsport Tri-state team. In fact the boys received some pointers in playing base ball that will be of much benefit to them. The loss of the game with Orvis comes a little harder on them for the reason that if they had won it there might have been a show for the pennant. The game, however, was played under protest. An interesting game is looked for when they play the Bellefonte Academy on Thursday.

Squire Hayes Schenck was a Bellefonte visitor on Saturday.

M. P. Holter and John Schenck left on Tuesday for Unionville where they will erect a dwelling house for a Mr. Flick.

Charles Lucas was a business visitor to Wingate on Tuesday.

Ex-Sheriff Robert Cooke is having good success with his fish basket at his farm west of town. There is much shallow water and many large rocks in the Bald Eagle creek in that section which affords a good place for eels. Other fishermen who have baskets in the stream have not had any success so far.

Miss Nellie Hopkins was taken ill on Sunday. She had been to Lock Haven making arranagements for entering the Normal and not feeling well returned home Sunday evening. When she stepped from the train she fell in a faint and had to be cared for by friends.

Scarlet rash has broken out in the primary school and sixteen cases were reported on Tuesday. If further cases are reported the school will be closed. Several children are in a very serious condition.

Willard McDowell is slowly recovering from recent attack of rheumatism.

The corner stone for the new German Reformed church will be laid Sunday, October 4.

He has followed that business for 42 years in the woods and restaurants, cooking and baking.

Joseph Spears is again papa, this time it is a large baby girl, which came to his home Sunday morning.

Rev. Kelley of Vandergrift, Pa., filled the pulpit for Dr. Laurie in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. The sermon was a plain and intellectual one taken from Matthew the 22nd chaper and 40th verse, "What think ye of Christ?"

Smullton.

The regular annual Harvest home services were held here on Sunday forenoon by Rev. J. Max Lantz of Spring Mills. The church was tastefully decorated by the ladies of the church and products of the fields, gardens and orchards were displayed. A harvest home solo was sung by Minnie Kline after which the sermon was preached, the text is found in Isaiah 34 6, "We shall all fade as the leaves." The discourse was divided in four parts pleasure, friendship, the earthly god (money) and length of time. The comparisons of the falling autumn leaves to that of a dying man was beautiful also the premature falling of a leaf—premature death. He strongly and very forcibly impressed on the large audience the necessity of preparing for the autumn season of Life to be ripe for the great harvest that is to come. The influence of a Godly Sunday school teacher was beautifully put before the audience. The services were concluded by reciting a beautiful poem on autumn written by the Rev's. mother and presented to him when he started on his ministry.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Moyer are delighted over the arrival of a new farmer boy who came to stay with papa Bruce.

Everybody is hauling water now, the wells are all dry and we need rain.

Addressed Academy Students.

The Academy students had planned for the initiation of some Freshmen on Monday evening, but instead of putting them through any very severe stunts they turned the evening into somewhat of a jollification and the boys were greatly benefitted by it. The Freshmen were lined up and marched about town for awhile and finally brought to a halt at the First National bank. Here the Academy yell was given and Col. Hugh S. Taylor was called upon for a speech. The Colonel mounted the steps and for a few minutes addressed the student body of the Academy. The thought uppermost in the minds of all present was the football victory over State on Saturday and naturally the speaker referred to that. He spoke of the discipline occasioned by athletics in the schools and colleges and necessity of the physical exercise to properly strengthen the body with the training of the mind. He was greatly applauded by the students, and a large crowd of people had assembled by this time.

The next speaker called was Col. J. L. Spangler, who was received with rousing cheers. He spoke of the great victory the boys had achieved on Beaver field and urged them to go forward in their studies with the same zeal and determination that the eleven young men representing the Academy in that game entered the contest for victory. He believes that athletics infuse life into our Academy and that the result of Saturday's game will make other schools sit up and take notice.

When the cheers for Col. Spangler had died away Dr. J. Allison Platts was called for. The Dr. is an all 'round athlete and expressed his regret of not seeing this signal victory. As the Academy boys hear Dr. Platts twice a week he addressed a few remarks to the bystanders and called their attention to this worthy institution which is bringing Bellefonte to the front in the Athletic world and which will advertise the town as no other medium would do.

Before closing he reminded them that the Academy boys would meet Howard on the base ball diamond on Thursday and the Punxsutawney football eleven on Saturday, and urged all to support them in their athletics.

All the speakers congratulated the team on their victory, the town for having such an institution, and the principal and the corps of efficient instructors for putting forth their best efforts towards making this one of the best preparatory schools in the country. Following this demonstration the Freshies were marched back to their studies.

Popular Young Candidate.

William Brown of Bellefonte, who is a candidate on the Republican ticket in Centre county for recorder spent several hours in Tyrone on Monday on his way over to Philipsburg and Sandy Ridge where he will make himself acquainted with the voters on that side of the mountain. Mr. Brown is just a young man but thoroughly competent to hold the position to which he aspires. When nominated for this position he carried the largest vote of any candidate in the county, which certainly speaks well of him. He is a self made man having worked hard all his life at the plumbing trade and when put on the ticket he jumped into the contest and won out gloriously although the other candidates had big financial backing. There are a few Centre county voters in Tyrone working and a great many throughout Bald Eagle valley where the Herald has a large circulation and we urge them to support Brown for he is the man for the position.—Tyrone Herald.

Americans are known as a dyspeptic people. The extent of this disease may be inferred from the multitude of so-called "Medicines" offered as a remedy. They are often in in tablet form and have no value except as palliatives of the immediate effects of dyspepsia. The man who used them may feel better but is surely getting worse. They do not touch the real cause of the disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine specially prepared to cure diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is not made to give temporary relief but to effect permanent cure. In ninety eight cases out of every hundred it cures perfectly and permanently.

Write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet giving all the ingredients contained in his medicines, which have been so widely used for the past forty years, and the opinion of eminent medical authorities indorseing these ingredienter In Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery pure, triple-refined glycerine is used instead of alcohol to extract the medicinal virtues from the roots and preserve the same unimpaired in any climate.

It has cost Dr. Pierce $25,000 to give away in the last year the copies of his People's Common Sense Medical Adviser which have been applied for. This book of 1008 pages is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pluerisy on both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

ENTERED MINE TO ESCAPE FIRE

Women and Children Forced to Seek Refuge In Mine Drift

WIND AIDED FIGHTERS

Mining Town Was Threatened With Destruction—Fagged Men Fought Heroically to Save Their Homes.

RABBITS PERISHED AND BEARS HIKED

Williamsport, Pa., Sept., 21.—A little mine drift, dug far into the mountainside, proved a refuge for the women and children of Long Valley, in the Barclay mountain district, from the awful heat and smoke and the menacing wall of forest fire that has been raging in that section for three days and three nights.

Five miles away, in the Liquin timber district, where 300 men of the Pennsylvania Lumber company were fighting the flames back from a million dollars' worth of timber and skidded logs, a fresh wind that sprang up has proved providential, for it was from a direction that drove the flames back from the timber and logs and gave the fighters a tremendous advantage with their ditch digging.

But this same wind that was so fortunate for the lumbermen worked directly opposite for the dozen families of Long Valley, a little coal town in the Barclay district. The wind blew the fire wall directly toward the town. The men of the village, already fagged and worn from a three-day and three-night battle with the flames saw that their little frame homes were doomed todestruction.

The scene was a veriteble inferno. The pall of smoke shut out the sun, until it was half as dark as night. The sounds of the screeching flames could be heard upon all sides.

The women and children were set to loading the household goods on the little mine cars, and these were pushed far into the drift, out of the shower of sparks. The women and children gathered at the mouth of the mine, where it was cool and into which the smoke did not drift.

The fire has now burned itself out, and the men of Long Valley are tottering with weariness, yet they dare not sleep lest the fire again get the upper hand.

The men fighting the fire for the lumber company say that thousands of rabbits have perished in the flames. These creatures would run to escape the fire, then, coming into sight of the men, would turn and go back into the seething wall. A panic has been created among the bears by the three mile line of fire. Some of these animals were seen "hiking" ahead of the fire wall for the open.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

APPEAL TO CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Made by Judge Taft In Behalf of the Filipinos.

"A Great Missionary Work That Is Certain to Promote Christian Civilization."

The extension of a vitalizing Christianity among the Filipinos as advocated by Judge Taft both before his speech of acceptance of the nomination to the presidency and in that document itself has been widely commented upon in the pulpits of the United States. The voice of the clergy has given earnest commendation to the attitude of Judge Taft, who when governor general of the islands exerted the utmost influence for amelioration of the condition of the inhabitants of the archipelago, and that, too, at the cost of great self sacrifice on his own part in refusing the seat on the supreme bench, to which he was both called and commanded by President Roosevelt.

Never since he first assumed the burden of the governorship of the Philippines has the welfare of the Filipinos ceased to be close to the heart of Judge Taft. In his speech of acceptance again he reminded the Americans that it is the duty of this country as a strong, Christian and enlightened nation to give spiritual as well as material aid to the distant brown brethren.

Taft's Appeal to Church.

Rev. Albert Hurlstone, pastor of Roberts Park church, Indianapolis, Ind., in a recent sermon thus spoke of Judge Taft's appeal to the Christian people of America:

"Mr. Taft used words of wisdom in referring to this question in his notification speech. His appeal is not only to his party, but it is to the Christian church of America. It seems to me that every man whose heart beats loyally to Jesus Christ must rejoice in the statement so truthfully made. Mr. Taft said: 'We have established a government with effective and honest executive departments in the Philippines and a clean and fearless administration of justice; we have created and are maintaining a comprehensive school system which is educating the youth of the islands in English and in industrial branches; we have constructed great government public works, roads and harbors; we have induced the private construction of 800 miles of railroad; we have policed the islands so that their condition as to law and order is better now than it has ever been in their history.'

"Mr. Taft is better fitted to speak on this question than any other man in the government today by virtue of his close connection with the problem, his experience and personal observation of the work being done; hence what he says will be heeded by the Christian church with intense interest.

Influence of Christian Civilization.

"More than ten years before Dewey sailed into Manila, Bishop Thoburn, our missionary bishop for fifty years in India, predicted that ere long the missionary would find an open door in the Philippines, but God alone knew how the door was to be opened.

"Now we hear Mr. Taft saying: 'We are engaged in the Philippines in a great missionary work that does our nation honor and is certain to promote in a most effective way the influence of Christian civilization. It is cowardly to lay down the burden until our purpose is achieved.' True, nor do we believe that the American people will allow this to be done. The sacrifice has been made, the song of the redeemed people will ere long fill heaven and earth with gladness. The selfish are ever lonely and joyless, but they who bring the sacrifice to the altar will find the joy of the Lord arise within them."

"According to His Folly."

"Shall the people rule?' is declared by the Democratic platform and candidate to be 'the overshadowing issue now under discussion.' It is no issue. Surely the people shall rule; surely the people have ruled; surely the people do rule." Thus Candidate Sherman replies to Candidate Bryan, and if the latter was looking for a straight answer he certainly got it. But those familiar with the mental processes of Mr. Bryan know that he would welcome no reply, but that his absurd question was asked to instil doubt in the minds of his more thoughtless followers.

Democratic Discouragement.

At the risk of calling down upon ourselves further execrations from a few of the faithful and fanatical we make bold to remark that the indifference of the South Carolina Democrats to the cause of Mr. Bryan seems to justify our prediction some months ago that the campaign would end with the Denver convention. We wish that we could be disillusioned; we wish that the Democrats of South Carolina and of the country would sharply rebuke us for saying that there was an absence of enthusiasm for Mr. Bryan.—Charleston News and Courier (Dem.).

Making or Keeping Promises.

The difference between Mr. Taft's promise of tariff revision and Mr. Bryan's pledges in the same direction is that Mr. Taft if elected will be in position to redeem his pledge, while Mr. Bryan if elected would be powerless to accomplish anything with a Republican senate arrayed against his free trade plans.—Omaha Bee.

Talismans In Malta.

There are still to be found in Malta a number of small stones shaped and colored like the eyes, tongues and other parts of serpents.

The superstitious among the Maltese connect these with the tradition that St. Paul when shipwrecked was cast on their island and that it was there that while lighting a bundle of sticks for a fire a viper fastened on the apostle's hand. St. Paul calmly shook the reptile off into the flames, and no harm followed. The natives wear these stones as talismans, in which character they suppose them serviceable in warding off dangers from snake bites and poisons.

They are found in St. Paul's cave imbedded in clay and are set in rings and bracelets and when found to be in the shape of a tongue or liver or heart are hung around the neck. They are also taken internally, dissolved in wine, which method is attended, according to some people, by more immediate results.

Blessings.

She was the daughter of the village physician, a sunny curled darling of six, whose big blue eyes rested on the face of the Sunday school teacher with an attention and intelligence most encouraging.

So when, after a discourse to the children on the beauty of appreciating their blessings, the teacher asked for an explanation of a blessing the doctor's little daughter rose and said:

"If my papa was to have a patient and she was to get well, and she was to pay my papa, and my papa was to give the money to my mamma, and my mamma was to buy me a new dress and take me down to the vacant lot and let me ride the great big fierce lion on the merry-go-round, that would be a blessing."—Woman's Home Companion.

A Witty Reply.

A witty but not overindustrious Celt was one of a street gang. A few minutes before noon one day he threw his shovel into the gutter, sat down on the curbstone and proceeded to light his pipe. Just then the superintendent of streets came round a corner and, seeing Pat, roared out:

"Here! What are you throwing down your shovel for at this time of day?"

"To cool it, sorr," said Pat.

Wasted Opportunities.

"How did you like my talk last night?" asked the beginner in the lecture field.

"Well," replied the candid critic, "you didn't take advantage of your many opportunities."

"I didn't?"

"No; you had a number of opportunities to quit before you did."—Philadelphia Press.

They're All Like This.

A young and pretty schoolteacher once asked her class for an original definition of the word "wife."

"A wife is a rib," said one little girl.

"Wives are guiding stars," said another.

"A comforter," said a third.

"An inspiration," said a fourth.

Altogether the definitions were rather pretty and commonplace, but finally a child of eleven, smiling archly, said:

"A wife is a person for a man to find fault with when things go wrong."

"Good!" cried the pretty teacher, laughing. "Good! That is the best definition of all, the best, the truest!"

But that afternoon on the way home from school the little girl whose definition had so pleased tripped demurely up to the teacher and said:

"Are you going to marry that tall, handsome young man I see you with nearly every night?"

"Yes," said the teacher.

"Well, then, if my definition of a wife was true"—

"Ah, but, dear, with us nothing will ever go wrong. He says so himself."

OPEN SECRETS.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken the many users of his medicines into his full confidence. Thus too he has absolutely and completely removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them REMEDIES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Dr Pierce's medicines are now in a class all by themselves—being absolutely and in every sense Non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this booklet it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, and with the use of specially designed chemical apparatus, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health.

The exact proportion of the several ingredients used in these medicines, as well as the working formula and peculiar processes, apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may not be infringed and trespassed upon by unprincipled imitators and those who may be piratically inclined.

Dr. John Fyfe, of Saugatuck, Conn., Editor of the Department of Therapeutics in THE ECLECTIC REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription: "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine."

"Helonias more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

"The following are among the leading indications for Helonias: Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys: menorrhagia, ("flooding") due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhea, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and an anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensation in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is rich in all the medical properties of Unicorn root, or Helonias.

Indigestion

[illegible] symptom of, and not [illegible] think of Dyspepsia, [illegible] as real diseases, yet [illegible] of a certain specific [illegible] sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

NUMBER ONE.
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, and to give the General Assembly power to establish a separate court in Philadelphia county, with criminal and miscellaneous jurisdiction.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, That the following amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same are hereby, proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended by striking out the said section and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas, shall be vested in one court of common pleas in each of said counties, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of each of the said courts shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in each of said courts may be, by law, increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first Monday of January succeeding its adoption.

Section 2. That article five, section eight, be amended by making an addition thereto so that the same shall read as follows:

Section 8. The said courts in the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny respectively shall, from time to time, in turn, detail one or more of their judges to hold the courts of oyer and terminer and the courts of quarter sessions of the peace of said counties, in such manner as may be directed by law: Provided, That in the county of Philadelphia the General Assembly shall have power to establish a separate court, consisting of not more than four judges, which shall have exclusive jurisdiction in criminal cases and in such other matters as may be provided by law.

NUMBER TWO.
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth, allowing counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts, or other municipal or incorporated districts, to increase their indebtedness.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That section eight, article nine, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, reading as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," be amended, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article of said Constitution, so that said section, when amended, shall read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed ten per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, in such manner as shall be provided by law.

NUMBER THREE.
A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and fourteen of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:—

"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms," so as to read:—

The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years; and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections; but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district," so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years, and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen.

Section 8. Amend section fourteen of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially, by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only: Provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record, or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve, Section One.

Section 9. Amend section one, article twelve, which reads as follows:—

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law: Provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen, Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen, Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled," so as to read:—

Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven and every fourth year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled.

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared, that—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Jockey's Tricks.

"There are tricks of two kinds in jockeying," said a jockey, "the legitimate and the illegitimate. Use the first and you'll prosper. Use the last and it's all up.

"Illegitimate tricks are pulling a race and getting left at the post. If you once pull a fast horse and make him lose, you are always afterward an object of suspicion, and ten to one if you ever pull another horse you are done for. But getting yourself left at the post is a big and complex subject, and it is the one trick that a clever jockey can work time and again with safety.

"To cause a rival horse to swerve is an illegitimate trick that often wins your race. You cause the swerving by straightening out your leg so that your heel nearly touches the other horse's nose, or you make a wide slash with your whip so that it nearly touches the other horse's eyes.

"The legitimate tricks are— But why give them away when it has taken all my life to learn them?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

We Work Too Hard.

Lady Headfort during her American tour said in New York that she approved of international marriages.

"They correct us," she explained. "Our Englishmen work too little, your American men work too much, and the international marriage tends to bring about a happy mean. Your men do work too much, you know," said Lady Headfort. "I have an English friend who attended the funeral of one of your hardest workers, a multimillionaire. My friend's wife said rather bitterly to him at the funeral:

"'How you have missed your opportunities, my love! Place yourself beside Mr. Ritch there. You are both of the same age. You both began life together. Yet you are a poor man, while he died a multimillionaire.'

"'Yes,' said the English husband. 'There Ritch lies, dead of nervous prostration, without one single penny in his pocket, and here I stand, hale and hearty, with a wallet in my coat containing quite a hundred dollars.'"

The King's Cock Crower.

In the good old time there was an English court official known as the king's cock crower. It seems a strange office. Why did the king require a cock crower, and why could not the common barn door variety serve his majesty's purpose? The reason, as you shall see, was that the barn door variety cannot be depended upon for times and hours, and he has never been persuaded to observe Lent. Now, this was a pious custom and a religious duty. All through Lent the king's cock crower crowed instead of calling the hours of the night in the palace. He began on Ash Wednesday, when he entered the hall in which the king's supper was served, and then crowed the hour in the presence of the royal party. The meaning of the custom is obvious. It was only one of the many ways in which the history of the Christian religion was brought home to the minds of people before the reading of the gospel in the vernacular. The office was continued down to the year 1822.—London Queen.

Wisdom From a Babe.

"What would you do, my boy," asked a professional vocalist proudly, "if you could sing like me?"

"Have some singing lessons!" replied the lad.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The honor we receive from those who stand in fear of us is not true honor.—Montaigne.

As Others See Us.

"Mem-sahib," asked a young East Indian girl of her English mistress, "why do you wear those sad colors? I don't like them."

"I am in mourning, Lattoo. It is the custom of English ladies."

"But black is the color of night, mem-sahib, and yet you believe that when you die you go to heaven at once. Then why not be glad for your friends who die and wear colors such as we see in birds and flowers and falling water when the sun shines? God doesn't make your colors. Ah, well, Christians are strange people!"—From "The Indian Alps."

A Woman's Country.

The Frenchwoman may not be so classical in form or outline as many of England's beautiful women, but she has undoubtedly the gift of charm, and by virtue of this elusive, tantalizing quality she has for centuries bewitched and enthralled all the men of her country. France today is the most woman ridden country and also the most peaceful, prosperous and contented. The women rule by charm.—Stormy Petrel.

The Old Master.

Mistress (to new servant)—I must impress upon you, when you go to the dining room, not to try to get the dirt off the 'Old Master' with a wet rag, but use a dry, soft cloth only. Servant—Mercy on us, marm; be I to wash the master?—London Tatler.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Housewives will not find it very profitable to begin fall house cleaning until the dust is settled.

—Remember Saturday, October 3 is the last day for paying your taxes in order to vote at the coming election.

—A reception to the new students at State College was given Friday evening by the Young Men's Christian Association. An interesting program was carried out.

—Severe forest fires are raging on the mountains near Renovo and a large force of men has been sent to fight the flames. Valuable young timber is being destroyed.

—Falling leaves should be gathered up and carried away, and not burned in the streets or allowed to remain in the gutters and clog up the sewers when swept into them.

—Rev. C. C. Shuey preached a very fine sermon Wednesday evening in the chapel at Coleville, using as his text the first chapter of Genesis, his theme being the creation of the world.

—A free ticket to the fair grounds on every cash sale of $5.00 from September 23rd to October 9th inclusive.

Montgomery & Co.
Bellefonte and State College.

—While working on the house of David Spotts at Unionville Saturday, J. H. Shipley, better known as "Jack," fell to the ground and sustained serious injuries. He is aged about 71 years.

—The return of the students to State College last week and the handling of the baggage connected therewith was the cause of much delay to the passenger trains. The travel to and from the Grange picnic also caused some delays.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Neff of Curtin have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice S. Neff, to Thomas P. Prett. The wedding will take place on Wednesday, September 30th.

—C. H. Long, proprietor of the Clinton house at Mill Hall, has decided to quit the hotel business and has sold his furnishings, stock and good will to a Mr. Mayes of Lewisburg, who will take charge as soon as the license transfer is made.

—The contract for rebuilding the burned Lock Haven hospital has been awarded to the Altoona Construction and Supply Co., their bid $50,168.60. The contract was signed at once and the work of rebuilding will commence soon. There were 11 other bidders.

—The Williamsport Tri-state and Lock Haven played an interesting game Wednesday afternoon at Lock Haven. At the close of the ninth inning the score was 7—7. In the tenth each side scored a run, making it 8—8. Twelve innings were played and on account of darkness the game had to be called.

—Contractor J. D Rockwell, of Sunbury has completed the new concrete pier under the Centre and Clinton county joint bridge near Beech Creek. The low stage of the water has been very advantageous to the contractor. The work will be inspected by the commissioners and if up to specifications will be taken off his hands.

—On Tuesday L. T. Munson resigned his position as superintendent of the Bellefonte furnace. Mr. Munson has has filled this position for a number of years, and it is quite probable that he will now accept a position with the United States Steel Co. His place at the Bellefonte furnace has been filled by J. N. Sherer, a graduate of State College.

—A reduction of thirty-three and one-third per cent in residence lighting in Williamsport is announced by the Lycoming Electric company and the Edison Electric Illuminating company, the reduction taking effect on and after September 1. The reduction applies to both primary and secondary rates and means a big saving to the users of electric light.

—The Pennsylvania State College opened for the fall semester on Thursday with a larger attendance than ever before, and there yet some students to enter. The standard of entrance examinations was raised this year with the result that a number of applicants failed to pass. The fund for the assistance of needy students was not sufficient to meet the demands this year and this probably prevented some from re-entering. However, the attendance is very satisfactory. A new system of registration was adopted and so facilitated the work that every student was entered and ready to attend class at the opening of the college Thursday morning.

—The Grange encampment being over the next big attraction will be the Centre County Fair.

—A big comet is headed this way, but as it is not likely to hit the earth nobody need feel afraid.

—Norman Kirk, a son of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Kirk, has entered the Pennsylvania State College for a four years' course.

—Remember Saturday, October 3 is the last day for paying your taxes in order to vote at the coming election.

—The parents who adopt their own curfew law and rigidly enforce it are on the right track. But let them see that the home is a pleasant and attractive refuge for the children.

—An epidemic of sore throat, accompanied by a dry, hacking cough is prevalent in some places, and it is believed that the drouth is the cause, the air being filled with so much dust.

—Nelson Melott, the new physical director at the Y. M. C. A. is now busy arranging for the winter gymnasium work. Repairs are being made and the work of organizing the classes is going on.

—The dust has become so thick on the country roads that automobiling has ceased to be a pleasure. It is not an uncommon sight to see them spinning along and leaving a trail of dust like the smoke of a passenger engine.

—Robert Peck, son of Postmaster R. D. Peck, who pitched here several times for the Howard base ball team, has accepted a scholarship in a preparatory school at Pawling, N. Y. He will play on the foot ball, basket ball teams.

—A report from Pine Grove Mills states that cattle which were pasturing on the Allegheny mountains are dying. Nine head have already been found, and it is thought that their death was due to the drouth and drinking stagnant water.

—Mrs. John Lane accidentally broke a pitcher while washing dishes on Thursday and cut her wrist badly. An artery was severed and for a time the wound bled profusely, the services of a physician being necessary to stop the flow of blood

—A heavy pall of smoke hung over town Thursday afternoon and evening. Forest fires are reported from several sections of the county. For several days there has been a fire on the mountain over on Wallace run, between Milesburg and the Intersection.

—Governor Stuart has accepted the invitation of Mayor Reyburn to have the National Guard participate in the Founders' week celebration in Philadelphia. parade will take place on Monday October 5, and this means that the members of Company B will join in the celebration.

—Glenn Campbell, Clearfield county, was the scene of a fatal blaze on Tuesday morning when three houses were houses were burned and the fire stopped by blowing up a house with dynamite. The little three old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Germorsky was burned to death and in attempting to rescue it the mother was so fatally burned that she died on the way to the Clearfield hospital.

—We would appreciate it very much if the people who have visitors, or when they go visiting themselves, or when they know of any other news of any nature would let this office know about it. It is our desire to get all the local news and our readers can help make the paper more interesting. A few have been doing this and we appreciate it as much as our readers.

—Half a dozen men passed by a fat looking wallet on the Main street in Monongahela on Wednesday, each chuckling as he thought he was too smart to be fooled. Then Ernest Millward, a business man, came along, picked it up and found it contained $237 in bank notes. He left it with a trust company and two hours later the owner came and identified it and left the $37 as a reward for Millward.

—It is stated that turkeys will be quite plentiful this year, despite the assertions of those interested to the effect that the young birds were killed by the hot weather of this summer. When it is wet, those interested in keeping up the price say that the young birds were killed, and they generally are when there has been too much rain. Raisers, however, claim that this has been a good year for turkeys.

—We caution hunters, especially younger ones, to not fire at everything that has fur or feathers, whether it is in season or out of season, as your game may prove costly. Better be posted before going out into the woods than to learn after shooting something that a heavy fine or a series of fines is necessary to square you up with "the law and the profits," as administered by a warden or justice of the peace.

—While riding in Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick's automobile Wednesday noon, Isabelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ward fell out of the machine on Allegheny St. It was at first thought that the heavy wheels of the auto had passed over her and she was hurridly picked up and carried into the office of Dr. Locke. It was found that the child had not suffered any serious injury from the accident and it is hardly probable that the wheels passed over her.

—Jupiter Pluvius' summer vacation ought to soon be over.

—Three exceptionally good pictures will be shown at the Electric theatre tonight.

—About the only thing that will abate the smoke nuisance at present is a good soaking rain.

—The next attraction at the Garman opera house will be "Indiana Folke," Thursday October 1.

—For the past few mornings there have been many indications of rain, but each day passes without a drop.

—Chestnuts are said to be small and wormy, owing to the dry spell. Political chestnuts are also unmarketable this year.

—The second week of the September term of court, beginning Monday, Oct. 5, 1908, has been continued generally upon petition of the members of the bar on account of the Centre County fair.

—The Williamsport Tri-State team which last Thursday defeated Howard by the score of 17—6 on Friday shut out Jersey Shore, winners of the Lycoming league pennant, by a score of 12—0.

—The date for the Centre county teachers institute has been set for the week of December 28th. One of the evening lecturers will be Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, the only blind man who ever sat in the United States senate.

—Constable Patrick Nolan, of Scranton was run down and killed by an automobile driven by Lalatte Berlin, son of Harry Berlin, Jr., president of the local branch of the Dupont Powder Co. The constable was attempting to make an arrest for speeding.

—Mrs. S. B. Finnegan, who was lately bereaved of her husband, expects to leave Bellefonte soon and will make her home in Philadelphia. She will dispose of some of her furniture next Saturday at public sale and will go to the Quaker City soon afterwards.

—Francis A. Mengle, a brother of Alex. Mengle of Pine Grove Mills, died at his home in Altoona Thursday morning of neuralgia of the heart. His wife and four children, two brothers and two sisters survive. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon.

—Major James H. Allport and Col. S. B. King, of Barnesboro, well known to many Bellefonte people, have gone to Idaho in search of rest and recreation. The objective point is Bitter Root range, about 150 miles west of Yellowstone park. Major Allport has made previous visits to the Rockies.

—Car on east bound coal train jumped the track on the bridge over Bald Eagle creek at Flemington Thursday night and held up traffic on the road four hours. The passenger train which leaves her at 8 16 did not arrive in Lock Haven until 1 18 Friday morning, having been held up on this side of the bridge.

—Parents should be cautious about giving their children permission to stay out of school. Every day out is a day lost to school work, they cannot make it up. They will soon be behind and want to stop school, find fault with the teacher say he or she is partial, etc., when all the time the parent is to blame.

—Radford, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Stephens, of State College, died Tuesday of gastritis. He had recently suffered from an injury to his knee from which he almost contracted lock jaw. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon by Rev. C. C. Snavely. Interment was made at Pine Hall.

—Diabolo, the ancient game which has recently been revived, has made its appearance in Bellefonte and numerous boys and girls can be seen about the streets playing with the spool and cord. Many of them have already become quite expert in throwing the spools high in the air and catching them as they fall. The demand has been so great that the dealers can scarcely keep a stock on hand.

—A report is current among Adams Express circles that Route Agent John E. Dubbs, with headquarters at Huntingdon will be transferred to Trenton, N. J., and will have charge of territory. C. P. Ochs, who has been general agent at Harrisburg, will succeed Mr. Dubbe, E. E. Sandford of Altoona, who covers this district, will be transferred to Warren, and P. A. Newton of Erie, will succeed Mr. Sandford.

—While burning rubbish in her yard at Ardara, Westmoreland county, Mrs. Hensell, aged 60 years, was burned to death. Five hundred dollars in bills which she carried in her pocket were destroyed. It is supposed that the fire communicated to the surrounding grass and that in trying to check the flames her clothing ignited. Her dead body was found by her husband upon his return to the house.

—Many persons were annoyed at the opera house Monday night by the continual cracking of peanut shells. Those who were eating the peanuts evidently were not aware of the fact that they were causing such an annoyance to the people who were deeply interested in the play. Such is beyond the control of the management and we have only the good sense of the people to appeal to. The management, however, should not allow late arrivals to take their seats during the play, and compel them to wait until the end of the act.

—Don't forget Katz & Co's. fall millinery opening Tuesday Sept. 29th.

—A rare treat in store for you at Katz & Co's. millinery opening Tuesday Sept. 29th.

—The fool and his gun will soon be making life precarious to the man in the woods.

—It is easier for a camel to lose its hump than it is for a man to discard a habit.

—W. H. Yarnell has moved his family and household goods from State College to this place.

—R. H. Merrit, a former resident of Lock Haven, has moved his family from that place to Julian.

—Christy Smith's orchestra at Katz & Co's. fall millinery opening all day Tuesday Sept. 29th.

—Mrs. Benjamin Gentzel was admitted to the Bellefonte hospital on Tuesday for treatment.

—Parents who supervise the studies of their children, looking over their lessons each evening will be appreciated helpers of the teachers.

—Miss Cora Fulton and Albert Kerstetter, both State College, were married Sunday afternoon last at Boalsburg by Rev. A. A. Black.

—Little headway is being made by the men fighting fires in Clinton county owing to a lack of water. About 150 men have been engaged by the forestry commission.

—If you are interested in the West, send 25 cents in stamps for four late issues of the The Pacific Monthly, containing fully illustrated descriptive articles about dairying, fruit growing, poultry raising and general farming conditions in Oregon Washington and Idaho.

PACIFIC MONTHLY, Portland, Ore.

—Tuesday afternoon the Logan Hose company made a number of tests of the water pressure, hose and plugs and at the same time did a lot of street sprinkling and sewer washing. Several men were also engaged during the day flooding the sewers and gutters, thus getting rid of the accumulation of dirt and filth of the past six weeks in some places.

—The Centre county apple crop this year promises to be one of the largest ever. In many orchards the trees are bending down with the fruit, which despite the drouth has grown to be fair sized and of an excellent quality. The marketing problem now concerns the farmers very much and they are holding the fruit for higher prices. Many of the early apples are now being made into cider for making apple butter and vinegar. The farmer and in fact every one has visions of a bounteous supply of this fruit for the long winter evenings.

—You must bear in mind that every day at the coming Centre County Fair will be a big one. Don't attempt to crowd in on Thursday because Thursday won't be a bit bigger than Wednesday or Friday. In fact Friday will be the day that the famous Repasz band will be present with Jonny Hazel, the popular cornet soloist. The hotels of Bellefonte are too crowded already to furnish sleeping apartments for such a large band as the Repasz so it will be possible to have it only one day this year and that will be on Friday. On Wednesday and Thursday the Coleville band will play the concerts.

—"East Lynne" as presented by the Joseph King Co. at the Garman opera house Monday evening was more than pleasing. While the play is familiar to all the story never grows old. With Gertrude Arden as Lady Isabelle, Eva Scott Regan as Barbara Hare, Marion Taylor as Miss Carlyle, Mr. Kelley as Archibald Carlyle, Mr. Seymour as Francis Levison and Mr. Edward as Richard Hare the leading characters of the play were presented in such a manner as to win the admiration of all. This was regarded by many as the best presentation of "East Lynne" ever given to a Bellefonte audience.

—At the close of the service at the Presbyterian church, on Sunday morning a meeting was held for the purpose of selecting additional elders to the church, when the following gentlemen were recommended by the session, and elected, viz: James R. Hughes, Martin L. Altenderfer, James H. Potter, and Wm. B. Rankin. Dr. Platts presided at the meeting with Mr. Charles E. Gilmour, a member of the session, as secretary. The ordination of the newly elected elders, will take place at some time before the next communion service, which will be on October the 25th, being the last Sabbath of the month.

—The station agents of the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad met at the Bush house Wednesday, where Chief Clerk John L. Miller, representing Division Freight Agent J. M. Gross, of Altoona, instructed them in regards to the use of a new filing cabinet for tariffs. After the meeting dinner was taken at the Bush house. The following agents were present: H. L. Hutchison, Bellefonte; P. C. Bradford, Lemont; S. A. Isbler, Oak Hall; J. R. Lee, Linden Hall; W. F. Bradford, Centre Hall; W. L. Campbell, Rising Springs; G. W. Radel, Coburn; W. A. Odenkirk, Glen Iron; A. G. Grove, Milmont; S. W. Johnson, Mifflinburg; S. A. Anderson, Vicksburg.

Bellefonte Boy Promoted.

Irvin C. Speer, youngest son of Ex-County Treasurer W. T. Speer, of Bellefonte, was recently promoted to the position of chief electrician of the United Street Railways Co., of St. Louis, Mo. The young man, for a number of years, had charge of a section of the line and he displayed such remarkable ability in its management that the promotion came to him unsolicited, thus it was the result of merit acquired by hard work and close attention to the interest of the company. The position carries with it a vast amount of care and responsibility, as he has charge of the many lines throughout that city and in the vicinity of the western metropolis. Bellefonte can again point with pride to another of its sons who has gone from home and finally filled another important place in the business world. Mr. Speer laid the foundation of his successful career while yet a mere boy in Bellefonte in the employ of the Bell Telephone company. Several years ago he put in an entire electric light plant in one of the large cities of the west which was so perfect in its construction that it started off like clock work and has been giving perfect satisfaction ever since.
